Student's work

Some people believe that young people should study in a foreign school or college for a year. I agree that they should have that experience.

Firstly, they can learn a different language what improve what they already know. By studying in a foreign school or college for a year you can improve your accent, your grammar and pick up some expressions.

Secondly, since you are going to be there for a year, you will definitely grow up, learn to do some chores and you will have to learn how to cook, because, if you're a student, you won't have much money.

Thirdly, you can make new friends while you are in the country, and those friendships can last a lifetime if they are taken care of. You can get a lot out of this experience and gain an e-pal perhaps.

To sum up, all the young people should have the opportunity to study in a foreign school or college, mostly because of the learning opportunities.

This country is on fire!

When summer comes, in Portugal, the whole country literally catches fire like a torch. It almost looks like a scene from a Hollywood movie, but a lot worse because it's really happening.

It wasn't always like this though. Years ago, when climate change and global warming weren't the huge problems they are today, fires in Portugal were uncommon, almost never heard of. But now, with the dry weather and high temperatures, it's hard for a week to go by without two or three fires! The last summer, almost a fifth of the country burned. It's just so depressing, don't you think??

Thankfully, every year there are more firefighters willing and able to put out the fires but usually there's so much to do that they feel overwhelmed. We need help, now!
